The Red Cross in America remember ed all who were across at Christmas time. Mr. Eaton's letter was so carefully written, that although covering six closely written pages, but one censure appeared. On Dec. 18, a letter was received by Mrs. Eaton from the Reserve headquarters at Newport, stating that John W. Eaton did not report for service upon notification after enlistment and courted the possible penalty by courtmartial.

The letter was turned over to a member of the local committee of the state council of defense. A statement of facts was forwarded to the commander asking to have the error corrected and after a second request was sent Mrs. Eaton received Saturday the Elizabeth Beckley.

"Madam: This office wishes to inform you that a proper record of your son's enlistment in the regular navy has been located, the bureau of navigation has ordered that he stay in the regular navy and his discharge from the reserve force has therefore been issued. The above with the letter from her son is very gratifying to Mrs. Fe. er son is very gratifying to Mrs Fo. ton and clears up any rumor that John W. Eaton was a deserter. Some mistake had been made in the records giving rise to the suspicion, but said mistake has now been corrected and mistake has now beer the matter cleared up.
